The Class of 1998 Leaving Onr Mark

ON SEPTEMBER 8, 1994, A GROUP OF FRESHMEN TOOK THEIR

FIRST HESITANT STEPS INTO A PLACE CALLED BISHOP

FENWICK. WE WERE INDIVIDUALS THEN, NOT

KNOWING WHAT TO EXPECT FROM EACH OTHER OR

EVEN OURSELVES. IN THE MONTHS AND YEARS THAT

FOLLOWED, OUR FAMILIES, FRIENDS, TEACHERS, AND EXPERIENCES

SHAPED OUR PERSONALITIES AND GAVE US MEMORIES TO LAST A

LIFETIME. TO ALL THOSE WHO HAVE LEFT A MARK ON OUR LIVES

IN SOME WAY, WE DEDICATE THIS YEARBOOK.

ON JUNE 5, 1998, A CLASS GRADUATED FROM A

PLACE CALLED BISHOP FENWICK, TAKING WITH THEM

THEIR MEMORIES, BUT LEAVING BEHIND THEIR OWN

INDELIBLE MARK.

BUDDY DAY

The Seniors and their Freshman buddies take a break from the Buddy Day activiteis, organized and arranged by the Peer Mentors and the Class Officers, to have some lunch.

Whitney Fox, Senior Class Vice President, gives our photographer a smile. Whitney, along with President Kara Cavallaro, were instrumental in planning for the day.

These Seniors and Freshmen are using the Buddy System!

Kara Cavallaro, Nicole Orlandella, Derrick Lima, April Prezioso, and John Casey show their school spirit by cheering for their friends during Buddy Day activities.

Kara Cavallaro rises above to make her speech to the Buddy Day participants. All who attended heard the traditional reading of "I Call the Moment Fenwick."

Robyn Misiano, Lindsay Welenc, and Gina DeFranco huddle during a game of Ultimate Frisbee. Frisbee was just one of the day's activities; there was also a Scavenger Hunt and a Barbecue lunch.

Heather Webster and Alison Roddy get in the spirit of things and make a new Freshmen friend. MENT AT

"And the Angel of the Lord came unto me, snatching me up from my place of slumber. And took me on high, and higher still until we moved to the spaces betwixt the air itself. And he brought me into a vast farmlands of our own midwest. And as we descended, cries of impending doom rose from the soil. One thousand, nay a million voices full of fear. And terror possessed me then. And I begged, 'Angel of the Lord, what are these tortured screams?' And the angel said unto me, 'These are the cries of the carrots, the cries of the carrots! You see, Reverend Maynard, tomorrow is harvest day and to them it is the holocaust.' And I sprang from my slumber drenched in sweat like the tears of one million terrified brothers and roared, 'Hear me now, I have seen the light! They have a consciousness, they have a life, they have a soul! Let the rabbits wear glasses! Save our brothers!' Can I get a hallelujah? Thank you, Jesus."

"Do you hear the winds of change as they sweep across your soul? Do you smile each time the crescent moon invites you to be whole? Do you drink from wisdom's fountain both the bitter and the sweet, And feel the joys of Mother Earth that dance beneath your feet? Do you embrace the tides of love that surge and ebb and flow, And rise to every challenge to become and learn and grow? Do you face each brilliant sunrise more determined to survive? Then your heart has known the thrill of being woman — and alive."

The Class of 1998's Top 98 Things to Do Before You Graduate

- 98. Wear pants with stripes.
- 97. Fall asleep in class.
- 96. Park without a parking permit.
- 95. Get lost on the way to lectures.
- 94. Find out what's really in the chicken patties... and veal patties... and fiesta fish... and bacon burgers... and rib sandwiches.
- 93. Go to a foreign country with Mr. K.
- 92. Have your own "Quote of the Day" on the board in Mr. Sousa's room.
- 91. Go to your locker between classes... and not get caught.
- 90. Get an e-mail from Jon Grondin.
- 89. Wait in the loooong line in free for bagels to discover that they're all gone.
- 88. Play BEANO on Monday nights.
- 87. Find out what Mr. K. really thinks and find out who Mr. K really is.
- 86. Buy at least one lottery calendar.
- 85. Ask Mr. Sutera if he should serve tea.
- 84. Escape from the Great Fenwick Fire.
- 83. See Mr. Sousa do his Superman impression.
- 82. Start a story with, "So there I was..."
- 81. Stay up until 5 A.M. playing PlayStation.
- 80. Use the library as a short cut to the caf.
- 79. Tell the Freshman to leave some books in their lockers.
- 78. Park your car under the Foyer for a full day of school.
- 77. Hear Ryan Green do his impressions of Mr. Guido and Eric Sek.
- 76. Next time the teacher says, "Any questions?" raise your hand and ask, "Is professional wrestling really fixed?"
- 75. Use one of the many history facts that you have accumulated at Fenwick in random conversation. For example, "Yester day I felt like Otto von Bismarck uniting Germany."
- 74. Let Mr. Jaworski "touch base" with you.
- 73. Play the radio in free.
- 72. Ignore all speed bumps.
- 71. Hear Steve Lynch say, "Dude."
- 70. Have Mike Tecci miss a basketball game.
- 69. Find out what the TV's in the caf are really for.
- 68. Play paper football in free.
- 67. Go see Mrs. Cormier's picture board.
- 66. Use the Jiffy John on the football field.
- 65. Have a crush on Mr. C.
- 64. Have Eric Sek ask you how much you bench.
- 63. Actually listen to announcements.
- 62. Get to know Joe.
- 61. Learn a foreign language well enough to express a coherent thought in it.
- 60. Figure out exactly when Physics and Calculus will come in handy (aside from launching rockets, jumping off cliffs, and filling water tanks).
- 59. Camp out on the football field.
- 58. Change your view on a volatile issue just to be against your teacher's view so you can have a full period of class discus sion.
- 57. Cheat on a morality test.
- 56. Be in a class where the teacher answers a YES or NO question with a 5 minute speech that answers neither YES or NO.
- 55. Pretend to lose a contact even though you don't wear them.
- 54. Have a cookout in the circle.
- 53. Camp out on the football field.
- 52. Do your Senior Service.
- 51. Tell the lunch lady you owe her.
- 50. Work at the GAP.
- 49. Write a paper on a book you actually read.

This part of the book is dedicated to life outside the classroom--from SAC events, to Sports and Club activities.

A day in the life of a Fenwick student is a busy experience. Starting with the first bell, there's a mad rush to eat breakfast while simultaneously finishing last minute homework. After that, a full day of going to classes, passing and failing tests, and socializing awaits. When the final bell at 2:19 rings through the halls, the day is far from overfor many Fenwick students. Sports practices begin, clubs have their meetings, and people head to work.

At night, a variety of other activities await. The Drama club and various teams keep the auditorium and the gym busyuntil nearly 10 p.m. Homework can sometimes take a back seat to talking to friends on the phone, and watching TV. After finishing whatever needs to be done for the next day of school, people finally find time to sleep...for a little while. All too soon, the alarm clock rings and so another day at Fenwick begins.

The Yearbook

A LETTER FROM THE CO-EDITORS-IN-CHIEF

Dear Fenwick Students and Faculty,

The production of a Yearbook is a long and involved process that requires a multi-talented, dedicated, and hardworking staff. The Co-Editors-in-Chief would like to take this oppotunity to thank everyone who aided in the making of the Yearbook at every level of involvement. The individuals primarily responsible for assembling this Yearbook are listed below. Their work was supplemented by the effort of a General Staff. The staff hopes that this book will serve as a reminder to the times the Class of 1998 shared together at Bishop Fenwick.

This year, our staff integrated the Yearbook process with computer technology. Not only did we ask our staff to publish a 242 page book, with over 2,000 pictures, articles, and captions, but learn complicated publishing software as well. Putting the book on computer allowed us more freedom with layouts and fonts, and we hope that the finished product illustrates this new technology.

The Yearbook is a lot of work--no staff member will deny you that. But despite the varied and unusual problems that met us on the way, we created a book that we are very proud of. This Yearbook would not have been published without the help of Fenwick administrators and faculty, as well as Elise Sinagra, our moderator and emergency photographer, Gainsboro Studios in Salem, and Guy Garon from Jostens Publishing Company. Thank you. It has been our honor to "Leave Our Mark" on Fenwick through the production of this book.

Sincerely,

Kristin Zampell & Christine Provencher

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Human Rights are Key

mnesty International U.S.A. is a group organized to aid people around the world who are persecuted in some way, or are denied the rights that we take for granted in America. The Amnesty International group at Fenwick writes petitions to governments and representatives of foreign nations, asking for mercy for persecuted citizens. If you see the group sitting at lunch with their petitions, don't be shy, come over and sign them! You will be showing your support for the rights of humans everywhere. Co-Chairpersons Jodie Michalski and Michelle Dionne would like to thank Mr. Kawczynski for his unending support throughout the

Campus Ministry MAKING MARKS ON THE COMMUNITY

Abigail Function listens intently during an Outreach Meeting while the rest of the club members look on. Outreach, a Campus Ministry sponsored team, does volunteer work in and out of the Fenwick community. Outreach runs such events as "Adopt-A-Child" during the Christmas season, and the "Peanut Butter and Jelly Drive" during Lent.

The members of the Outreach Team work through school vacations as well, doing community service in New York City during April vacation.

Outreach is just one facet of the Campus Ministry department at Fenwick. Campus Ministry also organizes the school masses, retreats, the Leadership program, and the newly established Peer Mentoring Program.

Computers in the Classroom

During our four years at Bishop Fenwick, we have seen many changes and advancements throughout the school. One of the most important, in terms of future technology, is the implementation of the Zampell Technology Center, along with the renovation of the other two computer rooms in the school. These advancements have brought about new opportunities for the students. The computers have already proved themselves as useful tools for learning at Bishop Fenwick.

Mr. Ralph LeDuc began the fundraising for the new technology many years ago. The first step was to purchase computers for the word processing students, to replace the outdated typewriters. From there, the project blossomed. We now are equipped with over 100 computers in the building. Every classroom has been wired for access, and soon computers will be at students' disposal in every room throughout the school.

There are already some teachers using the computers in the classroom. Mr. Michael Cavanaugh, who uses the computer for his religion classes, as well as his computer applications class, considers the computer a "vital and valuable tool." Even though he feels that computers are not the answer to all learning processes, "computer technology is moving from the exception to the norm."

Mr. Anthony Juliano, who also teaches computer courses, likes the addition of computers throughout the school. He says that before, computers were limited to students taking specific courses, but now "everybody has access."

Ms. Diane Colozzi of the foreign language department integrates the use of the computer in each class. Some projects have included Power Point presentations, interactive French CD-ROMs, and the creation of digital portfolios on the Internet. She comments that the students did not like the projects very much at first, but they "have learned skills that can be used in all their classes."

Principal Robert McNamara oversees the acquisition and use of the computers at Bishop Fenwick. Part of the process includes educating the teachers on how to use the new technology. Both teachers and students need to know how to use these tools. It is an ongoing project to keep up with the growing technology throughout the world. Mr. McNamara hopes that the students of Bishop Fenwick will use their computer skills long after graduation. "Computers are the future," says McNamara.

This year, the National Honor Society adopted a charity - the Inn Transition of Peabody. The NHS did a variety of activites to benefit the Inn Transition, from the pasta dinner "Fenwick Goes Italian," to stockings at Christmas and candy on Valentines's Day.

Fenwick Goes Italian - School Comes Together for a Great Cause

On September 25th, many of Fenwick's students and faculty came together with local businesses to help a special cause: The Inn Transition of Peabody

The Fenwick National Honor Society hosted the school's first pasta dinner for charity, which raised over $1,000 for the local program.

The Inn Transition, an offshoot of Citizens for Adequate Housing, is a shelter that works with mothers who have had problems with drugs and alcohol. The women and their children spend eight months in the program.

While staying at the Inn, the mothers attend classes each day which teach them to not only live without substances, but also to be better mothers to their children.

People who attended the event agree that this meal how to manage a household and be was as unique as the cause it supported; a five dollar fee entitled you to an endless supply of pasta, salad, rolls, ice cream, and soda. NHS members, along with other volunteers, worked to prepare the food and decorate the cafeteria for the event.

According to the NHS president Kristin Zampell ('98), "It was better than expected...it was fabulous how everyone came to serve, decorate, and Christa Lemelin ('99) noted, "There was a nice atmosphere, the music and the lights made it seen different than the school cafeteria.

Ms. Beaupre said, "It was really nice to see all the students and faculty come together for such an important cause.

One volunteer, Nicole Witkov ('99) said, "We got to talk to our friends, but at the same time we were helping people less fortunate than ourselves.

The night would not have been a success without the support of the entire Fenwick body; all four classes were represented, as well as the faculty.

Caitlin Dempsy ('00) though, "It's really great that so many people could be brought together for a single cause."

The greatest amount of support came from Fenwick's athletes.

Adam Steifel ('99), a member of the football team said, "It was definitely worthwhile because it was for such a good cause.

Even the teams that had away games that evening found time to drop by and show their support for this special event. Field hockey player Kate Andrews ('00) came with her team right after their game. "This is a good cause and it's great that they waited for our game to be finished.'

So are there any more Italian Dinners in the future?

"Yes, we'll probably do it again," said Zampell. "I hope that next year's National Honor Society will continue it. It would be a nice tradition.

The Arts

The 1997-1998 school year marked some very important and exciting changes in the Fine Arts Department at Bishop Fenwick.

ust as the fields are being improved on the outside, the art rooms are being renovated within the walls of the school. Art Studios 1, 2 and 3 underwent major remodeling during the months of summer 1997, providing a pleasant surprise to returning art students and their teachers, Mrs. Brenda Hallinan, Mr. Keith Phelan and Miss Kristina Shairs.

The Music department has experienced a different type of transition: Mr. Ivan Stefanov has taken over as music director at Bishop Fenwick. Along with teaching the Chorus, Chorale, Concert Choir and Band, he holds a composition and conducting class two days a week and has successfully coordinated the Christmas and Spring Concerts. A gifted flutist, he brings his love of music, talent and stamina throughout the school (especially caroling in the hallways on Christmas). He is a welcome addition to the Fenwick family.

Another new face around school is that of Ms. Michelle Nicholas, director of the Drama Club's fall production Δ Midsummer Night's Dream. She returned to Fenwick last year as the assistant director of the spring musical $\underline{42^{nd}}$ Street after living in Arizona for nearly 10 years. She graduated from Bishop Fenwick in 1987, and then continued to Arizona State University, obtaining a B.F.A. in theatre. She remained out west after completing college and cofounded In Mixed Company, a non-profit professional theatre company which quickly became one of the top ten theatre companies in Arizona. Most recently, she has assistant directed the 1998 spring musical A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum, and produced Pizza With Shrimp On Top, the first show for her east coast theatre company, Imagine If . . . productions.

All of the developments in the arts at Bishop Fenwick have added a cultural dimension to the curricular and extracurricular activities offered at the school. Between the new athletic facilities and the Fine Arts improvements, something state-of-the-art is truly available for everyone, no matter where their interests lie.

Hey Julie, Next year I get the car all to myself!

To believe is to embrace the value of a nurturing heart, the innocence of a child's eyes and the beauty of an aging hand, for it is through their teachings we learn how to love.

To believe is to know we are never alone, that life is a gift and this is our time to cherish it.

To believe is to know that wonderful surprises are just waiting to happen, and all our hopes and dreams are within reach...if only we believe.

We love you so much Gaitlin, always follow your dreams, Mom and Dad

Congratulations Class of 1998!

May the road rise up to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the sun shine warm upon your face,
May the rain fall soft upon your face,
And until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of his hand.

Joe Bonfiglio, a star was born and will shine long after the name in lights goes out; just what the world needs, another shy (ha) Italian.

Stephanie Coulliard, your smile lights up a room and now its time to seek the darkness and overpower it with light; especially those private chat rooms.

Terry Hilton, your warm hugs and smiling face can erase sadness and gloom; just be careful of the stars on my shoulder monkey toes.

Janine Nappi, you are a queen, so reign with pride, courage, and love; who am I going to stalk now?

Sarah Phipps, you've shown your stuff in the Fenwick Family, now it's time to show the world, they'll love it; especially your crazy nook.

Christine Provencher, you're the best at everything you do and any person would be lucky to have you as a friend or partner in crime; who's gonna keep me in line at practice now?

Adam Salsman, humor is a gift and kindness is a quality, keep them in tact and don't change for anyone; don't forget the QOTD is... I'm not weird, I'm gifted!

Annie-Rose Willis, a great personality, intelligence, and honesty are great weapons, use them well and with wisdom and you'll go far; it's 2 hours before the dance, do you know who your date is?

Kristin Zampell, you are a born leader and success will come easily if you give it your all; watch out Quince they're all Fools out there!

thankful to God for sending us a child like you.

Now you are ready to embark on a new adventure which you will approach with the same enthusiasm and spirit that you have for everything. You will leave the safety and comfort of your home for new and thrilling education and life experiences at college. Here you will continue to thrive, achieve and succeed at your goals. We will miss you but we will share in your excitement and our lives will be all the more enriched because of your existence.

Amanda, we love you and admire and respect you for all that you are. We will always be here for you whenever you want us.

Love, Mommy, Daddy and Jackie Kara,

You started planning your future a long time ago. Congratulations on completing this part of life's journey and good luck and lots of happiness in the future.

Love always,

Ma, Dad, & Tyler, & Liza

Congratulations to the class of 98!

Good Luck and Best Wishes to

Brittany, Catherine,
Devon, Irene, and Lindsay!
You are the greatest friends anyone could have!
I'll Miss you!
Love always,

Erin, Lindsay, Kim, and Marisa,
"Friendship is not created by what we give, but more by what we share.

It makes a whole world of things much easier to bear."

Thanks for all the memories,
I couldn't ask for better friends.

Friends forever,

Love, Kara

We love you, Court!

Marisa,

Dad and I would like to present you with a special kind of diploma, one that Bishop Fenwick cannot give. It's filled with love, pride and gratitude from the folks with whom you live.

The past four years we've watched a young girl develop and flourish into a beautiful young woman. Upon graduation from high school, you will close yet another chapter of your life and begin a new one.

As you venture out to face the "real world," always remember that happiness and success follow many paths. Don't be afraid to accept life's challenge in finding these roads.

Seeing you go off to college will be difficult, but we know you possess traits of character, compassion, dedication, open-mindedness and the ability to love which have brought you this far. These virtues will allow you to continue your journey into the future in pursuit of a wonderful and fulfilling life.

Marisa, never lose sight of your dreams. Louisa May Alcott once said: "Far away there in the sunshine are my highest aspirations. I may not reach them, but I can look up and see their beauty, believe in them and try to follow where they may lead."

Congratulations. We love you always.

Love, Mom, Dad, and Stephanie xxoox

Sarah,
We are so proud of you. Keep reaching for those stars.
Love,
Mom, Dad, & Emily

Colleen,

We've had some fun times, but the best are on the way. Good luck! I'll miss you!

> Love always, Lora

Nicole,

Remember you deserve the best and don't settle for anything less. Thanks for being a great friend. Remember I'll always be here. I'll miss you.

Love always, Lora "We are not friends because of the laughs we spend but the tears we save.

I don't want to be near you for the thoughts we share but the words we never have to speak.

I will never miss you because of what we do, but what we are together."

"Love and friendship are the discoveries of ourselves in others, and our delight in the recognition, afterall, what is a friend? A single soul but dwelling in two bodies."

"No person is the whole of themselves; their friends are the rest of them."

KARA, LINDSAY, ERIN & KIM:

I will never forget Italy, Spain, and all the great times we had in the good old US. You girls redefine what true friendship really is; it is not about simply being there for someone, it is about truly caring about their well being and knowing exactly what they need to hear in order to cheer up. I will forever cherish our friendship and will forever remember the great times we shared. You are all a part of me that will help to guide me in the future and always stay with me. I love you all so very, very much. Please keep in touch.

Love always & forever, Marisa

"Make new friends, but keep the old, For one is silver, and the other gold."

It seems like yesterday . . .

But time has passed in the blink of an eye and you both have grown into two very special "individuals".

Congratulations — we're so proud of you!

Love, Mom & Dad To My Sisters: Janine and Julie,
May you have enough;
Hope to make you happy,
Success to keep you humble,
Friends to give you comfort,
Enthusiasm to look forward,
and Determination to make each day better than yesterday . . .
Three years ago you wrote to me to wish me luck in college, now I'm doing the same for you.
Good luck.

Love, Jillian "95"

Janine and Julie,

Life is for experiencing and learning, Finding who you are,
Listen to the voice within you,

It will guide you.

Open your heart, you will see the beauty all around you.

Know that, as much as we have to teach you, we have to learn from you.

Be who you are and know our love for you is unconditional.

Love, Mom and Dad Congratulations Brian Pitreau.
I'm proud of you!
Love,
Gram
